Walk in Newness of Life Pastor Clayton Faulkner

Once we turn the corner of Thanksgiving and head into the final weeks of the calendar year, I always find myself in a reflective mood. It's a season of evaluation for me. I think this naturally happens in lots of places through year-end reviews and reporting. But it's also a good time to do this personally.

One resource I found encourages a "life audit." Doing a life audit can help you pinpoint where you need to make adjustments in your life and facilitate changes you hope to see in the new year. This life audit recommends evaluating eight different areas of life: health, finances, personal development, career, relationships, self-care, home life, and free time. What changes would make the biggest impact in your life for each area?

Another set of questions I found valuable are from therapist Nedra Tawwab. She poses 10 questions to process before you wrap up 2022:

1. What did 2022 teach me about myself?
2. Who showed up for me, and how can I nurture those relationships?
3. What do I need to accept about myself and the other people in my life?
4. How did I cope with uncomfortable feelings?
5. How can I better manage my reaction to my feelings?
6. In what ways will I take better care of myself in 2023?
7. What has been a barrier to me completing my goals, and how will I remove the barrier in 2023?
8. What limiting beliefs do I need to release?
9. What do I need to practice doing more or less of?
10. What one boundary do I need to implement to improve my peace in 2023?

Hopefully these questions will give you something to chew on as the year closes out and a new one begins. Perhaps it is the season of waiting during Advent that causes me to be so reflective. It takes some of the passivity out of it. Advent is not meant to be a season of unresponsive thumb-twiddling. It is a time of preparation. Like John the Baptizer we are called to prepare the way for something deeper and more profound that is arriving.

That is why we don't jump headfirst into Christmas. Even if the culture of commercialized Christmas is putting up the decorations before Halloween, as the church we know that celebrating too early misses the point. It's like eating a stew that hasn't had time to simmer. It tastes thinner, less robust. Christmas needs Advent so that we can taste the flavors more fully.

We also don't jump headfirst into Christmas because the weight is too heavy. Distracted by parties, presents, and preparation, Advent slows us down to recognize the enormity of the incarnation. "And the Word became flesh and lived among us, and we have seen his glory, the glory as of a father's only son, full of grace and truth" (John 1:14). This eternal Word "did not regard equality with God as something to be exploited, but emptied himself, taking the form of a slave, being born in human likeness. And being found in human form, he humbled himself and became obedient to the point of death — even death on a cross" (Philippians 2:6-8). God becomes a human through the partnership and humility of young Mary who recognized that God was helping "his servant Israel, in remembrance of his mercy, according to the promise he made to our ancestors, to Abraham and to his descendants forever" (Luke 1:54-55).

At Christmas we remember that God did something enormous through the smallest means possible: a human infant. God still does enormous things through small means. We witness this every time we share our resources, when we give without expecting return, and when we gather around modest portions of bread and wine on Sunday. God reaches out and grasps us in love through the smallest, most ordinary things.

Advent is here. Christmas is coming. Christ is being born. Prepare some space in the inn of your heart for him. Reflect on how the year went and your hopes for the year to come. If your neighbor is going to experience the love of Jesus in their life, it will be because of Jesus in you.

God bless you and your families during this season of joy and hope.

Church Council News

Aimee Castillo, Church Council

Happy New Year! I always look forward to the new year. It's a chance to start anew, and another year we have been allowed to live on this Earth. Our new year, or Advent, is special. Not only are we starting over on our liturgical calendar, but we are also taking the next four weeks to prepare for the birth of our Lord Jesus Christ.

It is easy to rush through Advent, as many people are trying to get through the hustle and bustle for Christmas. But if we slow down and recognize the importance of Advent, we will remember that it's the most wonderful time of the year! "For a child will be born to us, a son will be given to us; And the government will rest on His shoulders; And His name will be called Wonderful Counselor, Mighty God, Eternal Father, Prince of Peace" (Isaiah 9:6).

We as humans do not have many chances to know what happens next. But Advent tells us of what is to come. Advent is the promise that our Messiah is coming. And not just a baby born in a manger, but the assurance that our Lord and Savior will have His Second Coming. Hallelujah! As Advent means coming, we must also remember our Gregorian calendar of leaving during this time of year.

From January 2020-December 2022, I have served on Church Council. I do love New Life very much; it in every sense of the word has given my family "new life," but it is time for me to explore other ways to serve our church. Like we say, all good things must come to an end, but we also know that every new beginning comes from some other beginning's end.

And on that note, I would like to take this time to welcome our new incoming Church Council members. I know God has led every one of our members on this path for New Life, and I have no doubt what an amazing church they will lead for us. Please remember to always pray for our Church Council, as they have the weight of the church on their shoulders. But the Lord promises in Jeremiah 29:11, "For I know the plans I have for you," declares the Lord, "plans to prosper you and not to harm you, plans to give you hope and a future."

So whether it be coming or going, starting anew or continuing, the Lord promises that He will take care us. And He will take care of our church. Amen.

ELCA Church Council welcomes new vice president and 18 new members

The Church Council of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America (ELCA) met at the Lutheran Center in Chicago, Nov. 10–Nov. 13. The council welcomed ELCA Vice President Imran Siddiqui and 18 new members, elected by the 2022 Churchwide Assembly. The council serves as the ELCA churchwide organization's board of directors and interim legislative authority between meetings of the Churchwide Assembly.

In her report to the council, ELCA Presiding Bishop Elizabeth Eaton drew attention to the substantial work charged to the council by the 2022 Churchwide Assembly. Eaton said the work will "have a significant effect on this church as we listen to God's call and try as best as we can and as faithfully as we can to remain true to the gospel, but somehow find a way to speak and act in the cultural vernacular." Eaton said one of Martin Luther's gifts was his translation of the Bible into German so that people could receive it in their own language. She emphasized to the council how the work set before them could impact those who are presently not in church but may come in five or ten years.

In key action, the council approved a nomination process for the Commission on a Renewed Lutheran Church. The commission will consist of up to 35 voting members, to include at least 25% people of color or whose primary language is other than English and a goal of at least 20% youth or young adults. Nominations will be received from synod councils or synod executive committees as well as through an open nomination process. The Church Council's executive committee will present a slate of nominees at the council's April 2023 meeting. This action is in response to the 2022 Churchwide Assembly call for the council to establish the Commission for a Renewed Lutheran Church to consider statements of purpose for the church and its organizational structure and to present its findings and recommendations to the 2025 Churchwide Assembly in preparation for a possible reconstituting convention. The council also referred to the commission the question of changing the denomination's name.

In other action, the council:

- Authorized the engagement of a firm to conduct a comprehensive audit for diversity, equity, inclusion and accessibility of the Constitutions, Bylaws, and Continuing Resolutions of the ELCA (CBCR), the Roster Manual, the Church Council Governance Policy Manual and "Definitions and Guidelines for Discipline." A report will be presented at the fall 2023 Church Council meeting.
- Scheduled for 2024 the initiation of a task force for reconsideration of the social statement *Human Sexuality: Gift and Trust*.
- Amended the Churchwide Organization Personnel Policies to include a provision concerning nondisclosure agreements as requested by the 2022 Churchwide Assembly memorial on separation agreements.
- Revised the 2023 fiscal year current spending authorization from $68,814,000 to $68,429,562 and revised the 2023 World Hunger spending authorization from $22,869,000 to $25,250,000.

- Deferred questions on the development of social messages on U.S. national gun policy and child abuse and protection and the revision of the social message "Homelessness" until the spring 2023 Church Council meeting.
- Adopted a continuing resolution establishing council advisory members to include the presidents — or designee — of the ELCA ethnic associations and a representative of Reconciling Works. The council also approved revisions to the ELCA Church Council Governance Policy Manual to include reference to advisory members.
- Repealed the 2003 Policy on Criteria for Synodically Authorized Worshiping Communities and directed consideration of a new policy.
- Encouraged the task force addressing disciplinary concerns of leaders of color to continue conversation regarding the position of a racial justice ombudsperson.
- Received a report on research work related to discriminatory treatment within the call process and inequitable compensation of rostered ministers of color, and called for interaction with and among the Christian Community and Leadership home area, the Leadership Committee of the Conference of Bishops, and the Candidacy and Leadership Development Working Group.
- Closed the special appeal for the COVID-19 Response Fund, which raised $2,112,429.
- Approved amendments to three corporate social responsibility issue papers and a new Privatized Immigration Detention Social Criteria Investment Screen.
- Received a progress report regarding the Unaltered Augsburg Confession and urged actions to increase awareness of the confession in advance of the 500th anniversary in 2030.
- Elected members of the advisory board of Trinity Lutheran Seminary at Capital University and boards of directors of the Lutheran School of Theology at Chicago, Wartburg Theological Seminary, the Mission Investment Fund, and National Lutheran Campus Ministry, and elected a member of the Committee of Hearing Officers.
- Approved amendments to the bylaws of Portico, Lenoir-Rhyne University and United Lutheran Seminary.

The Church Council received/engaged in the following:

- Reports from the church's secretary, treasurer and vice president, from the ELCA Conference of Bishops, from the Church Council Youth and Young Adult working group and from the churchwide office home areas.
- Progress reports on synod diversity goals and from the Candidacy and Leadership Development working group.
- Debrief of the 2022 Churchwide Assembly.
- Education on gender and racial justice.
- Greetings from ecumenical partners.
